

Stephen Quigg

Stephen is a key member of the pwc Information Security practice, with 12 years professional experience in information security and over 20 years in technology. He is respected as a security subject matter expert and regularly consulted to find pragmatic solutions to complex problems in high security environments. Stephen has experience across finance, energy and government, giving him insight into the real-world threats and risks of the Internet.

